SINGLE MASTER PROMPT

Keep the human subject 100 percent photorealistic and untouched. Do not turn the person into LEGO. No pixel filter, no stylization, no lighting remap on skin. Preserve exact facial detail, pores, fabric weave, hair strands, natural shadows, expression, posture, body proportions, clothing, and identity.

Rebuild everything around the human subject as a structurally accurate LEGO replica of the original location. Do not reinterpret the scene. Match the exact layout, spacing, depth, geometry, horizon line, camera height, focal distance, framing, and subject scale from the reference image.

If there is a path, street, beach, harbor, mountain trail, cafe, plaza, water, trees, buildings, rocks, benches, bicycles, cars, signs, planters, furniture, or background people, convert them into detailed LEGO-built equivalents while preserving their exact position and proportion relative to the subject. Any non-human object physically touching the subject must become LEGO-built but remain correctly scaled and naturally integrated.

Lighting should match the original photo, recreated as realistic daylight or indoor light interacting with LEGO plastic materials. Preserve subtle specular highlights, natural shadow falloff, soft environmental reflections, authentic LEGO seams, visible studs, injection molding details, slight scuffs, and realistic plastic reflections.

Maintain the recognizable identity of the original location from the composition alone, but render the environment as detailed LEGO construction. High-resolution cinematic realism. Real human subject inside a LEGO-built world. No UI, no text, no overlays.
